

NURSING

UNIVERSITY of HAWAII at MĀNOA

Leadership • Excellence • Innovation

UH MĀNOA NURSING TENURE TRACK FACULTY FINALIST CANDIDATE VISITS & PRESENTATIONS, SPRING 2013

Released March 14, 2013

UH Mānoa Nursing is recruiting for six (6) tenure leading faculty positions. We are pleased to welcome the finalist candidates for the tenure track faculty candidate recruitment.

UH Mānoa Nursing faculty, staff, students, as well as the UH and health care community are invited to attend candidate presentations. A reception with light refreshments will follow each of the presentations.

Joseph Coyne, DrPH, Candidate for Professor: March 19-20

- Professor & Director of the Center for International Health Services Research & Policy, Washington State University
- Presentation: "Diabetes Prevention and Quality of Life: Domestic and global research", Tuesday, March 19, 2013, 2:00-3:00 p.m., Webster 205

Rebecca E. Lee, PhD, Candidate for Professor: April 1-2

- Professor & Director, Texas Obesity Research Center, University of Houston
- Presentation: "Translating Theory to Research and Practice: A long walk through beautiful places", Monday, April 1, 2013, 3:30 – 4:30 p.m., Webster 205

Sandra Sinclair, PhD, RN, Candidate for Assistant Professor: April 15-16

- Instructor, Department of Nursing, UH Mānoa
- Presentation: "Health-Related Quality of Life for Children with Cleft Lip and/or Palate", Monday, April 15, 2013, 3:30 – 4:30 p.m., Webster 205

Nafanua Braginsky, PhD, APRN-Rx, Candidate for Assistant Professor: April 16-17

- Assistant Professor, Department of Nursing, UH Mānoa
- Presentation: ""Self Management of Type 2 Diabetes in Asian and Pacific Islanders in Hawai'i", Tuesday, April 16, 2013, 3:00 – 4:00 p.m., Webster 205

Angela Sy, DrPH, Candidate for Assistant Professor: April 22-23

- Assistant Professor, Department of Nursing, UH Mānoa
- Presentation: "Translating Health Promotion Research to the Community Setting: Implementing and evaluating community based participatory approaches to prevent cancer in Filipino and Pacific Islander communities", Monday, April 22, 2013, 3:30 – 4:30 p.m., Webster 205

Candidate CVs are available at www.nursing.hawaii.edu/facultyfinalists.

The 2013-14 faculty recruitment is ongoing and the schedule is subject to change. If you have any questions, contact Marla Acosta, Dean's Office, 956-8522 or acosta@hawaii.edu.