

Research Centers in Minority Institutions Translational Research Network

Eagle-i/Resource Discovery Networking Tool (RDNT) for RTRN Informational Webinar

Friday, March 2, 2012

Time(s): 10AM Hawaii, 12PM Pacific, 1PM Mountain, 2PM Central, 3PM
Eastern, 4PM Puerto Rico

Deploying eagle-i at our RCMI institutions will enable our researchers to more efficiently identify resources (facilities, instrumentation, etc.) which can help further multi-institutional, collaborative research.

Goal of the webinar:

- Provide a high-level overview of the eagle-i, its capabilities and benefits for the RCMI research community
- Discuss the approach for preparing the sites to utilize the tool

Objectives:

- 1) Discover “invisible” RTRN research resources
- 2) Train RCMI researchers in the use of the eagle-i tool to discover resources which are important for their research
- 3) Sustain the necessary infrastructure and understand roles and responsibilities to support the eagle-i tool across RTRN

Intended audience:

Members of the Biospecimen Repository Working Group, Proteomics Cores and RCMI Principal Investigators, Program Directors, Core Centers/Facility/Lab directors, researchers other support personnel, and RTRN Communication Liaisons

Please confirm your attendance via e-mail to communications@rtrn.net; include the date. Though the presentation will be repeated each day during February 27 – March 1, participants are welcome to join more than one session.
